

In this example, different objects are selected

On launching the script, a dialog box appears :

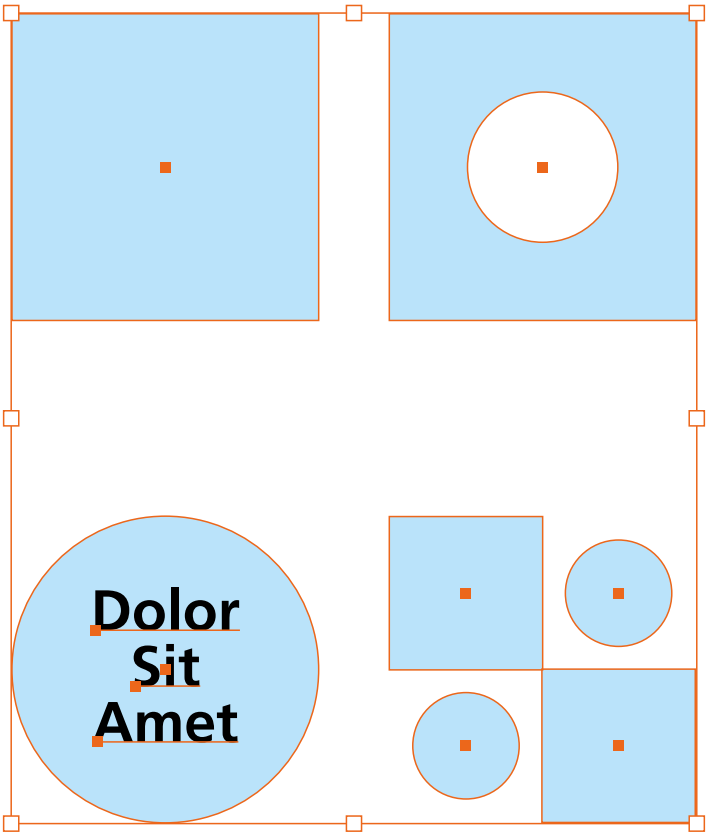

Two options are available:

- "All" corresponds to the selection of one or more objects with the black arrow.
In addition to the selection frame, the center points of the objects are drawn, as well as the baseline of text boxes, including when "entering groups."
- "Each" replaces the drawing of the selection frame with drawing the anchor points and handles (for those that have them).

Result

With the "All" option

With the "Each" option

